TOMTOM QUICK GPS FIX Email Sent to Customers

Customers that are registered with TomTom to update their Mazda TomTom system (using TomTom HOME software) may have recently received this e-mail:

The screenshot shows an email notification from TomTom. At the top left, it says "Download and install the latest QuickGPSFix update" and at the top right, "Having trouble viewing the email below? Click here to read the online version.". The Mazda logo is on the left and the TomTom logo is on the right. In the center, there is a globe icon with a crosshair, followed by the text "QUICK GPS FIX" and "An important update is available". Below this, it says "Download and install the latest QuickGPSFix update on to your navigation device." and features a large downward-pointing arrow above a green "Download" button. A grey box at the bottom contains detailed text about the update and another "Download" button. At the very bottom, there is a small disclaimer: "You're receiving this email as part of the service we provide to you. If you're unhappy with this service and no longer wish to receive service related emails please contact email-unsubscribe@tomtom.com and we'll stop sending any emails to you."

Please note that this is NOT an operating system update (aka firmware), this is an update to the file that the system uses to quickly find GPS satellites. This file is usually updated daily but the customer does not need to update this file for their system to work correctly. This update will always be free as are firmware updates. Use the TomTom HOME software to determine what is available for your specific customer.

If you need more detailed information on how the file works with TomTom devices and how long it remains accurate, Click Here.
