2017 Ford F-Series OEM Door Lock System

Ford has made a change to the power door lock circuits on the 2017 year model which is different than previous years. If you lock the truck with the OEM key fob which is built into the key it activates the OEM security system. This disables all other locking systems.

If you lock the truck with any locking systems ILO the key fob you will have full access to use any of these functions. We will continue to look at ways around this issue but right now we can not go around the OEM security system.

If you have additional questions, please contact Randy Barr at randy.barr@aev.com.
